Relaxing during the Phuket Conference

September 28th,
2012

Hi PMC members just a short message to let you know that we are currently holding the 2012 PMC Conference in Phuket. Members arrived last Friday and Saturday for the conference to commence on Sunday. We had members coming from many states and many brought their families as well over to enjoy the warmth and experiences of the location. The first activity was to get to know all other participants and this was done through some team building exercises. For this exercise we formed into 4 teams to visit a local Thai market and buy some local ingredients that were indicated with Thai cooking instructions. We raced around the market then caught the bus back to begin preparing the Thai Green Mango salad. The winning team was judged as having just enough fish sauce, sweetness from palm sugar and spice along with a good display.

The conference venue of Le Meridien is well located on the beach to allow space for the morning run and swim, numerous pools for the lap swimmers and a short walk to local food and of course the Thai massage to relax those tired muscles and aches and pains.

This year's PMC Conference has the focus of Managing your Property Portfolio. Participants are using a number of TIC tools that are available to assist members in understanding their cashflow position, equity projections and property management data. They are having a great deal of fun using their tax returns to get the most accurate position they can from last year.

Everyone is very busy with their workshop materials and working very hard from morning till late afternoon and making sure they enjoy their learning along with making many new friends and associated links for the future.

A good bye from Thailand, with a concluding postcard coming later.
